

Use Knowledge Well

Content

Each assessment currently consists of 60 items drawn from a bank of over 600 items that were written by knowledge leaders using nationally validated skill standards as a blueprint. The National Information Communication Technology (ICT) Skill Standards were developed by industry leaders including HP, Lucent, AT&T, Novell, Microsoft, and more...

These 600 items have been reviewed by item writing experts resulting in a comprehensive item bank measuring various topics and difficulty levels.

The assessments are designed to support organizations that leverage Information and Communication Technologies as well as those facing systems integration & convergence challenges and are developed using non-product specific material. Each test item assesses knowledge and skills (Telecom Basics, OSI Model, etc.) related to critical work functions (Perform Network Infrastructure Troubleshooting); see an example below.
